Data Scientist

Job Description

• Working with stakeholders to identify the business requirements and the expected outcome

• Works with and alongside business analysts by using machine learning to provide predictive suggestions to businesses.

• Collaborates with subject matter experts to select the relevant sources of information.

• Works with team leaders and members to solve client analytics problems using machine learning & data analytics.

• Performs experimental design approaches to validate findings or test hypotheses.

Qualification

• Bachelor's degree in Science/IT/engineering field with data science and AI knowledge

• Training experience required: Data science, machine learning, experimental design, statistics.

• required experience working with predictive modeling with R or Python on big data in Cloud environment.

• Other qualifications: Data wrangling, data preparation for data science, and also knowledge of statistics and experimental design.

• Working experience of at least 2 Years is preferable